ASK CONSTANTINE TO QUIT THRONE

OFFICIALS AT CAPITOL ARE GIVEN HINT

Those Who Are to be Retained Will be Given Notice Soon

BLAINE IS RETICENT

Terms of Haugen, Weigle, Blumenfeld and Hambrecht Expire

Indications are seen everywhere in the capital that many of the appointive officials may not be retained by Gov. Elect John J. Blaine after their terms of office have expired. From many sources the information is obtained that Mr. Blaine intends to follow the policy of Gov. Philip La Follette in the important appointive positions of his own choice. He is quite reticent to talk on the subject.

"Are you going to keep all of the old appointive office holders?" Mr. Blaine was asked.

"Those who may be retained, if they will be invited by me, far in advance of the expiration of their term so that they will know they will be retained," answered Mr. Blaine.

This statement is taken to indicate that unless appointive officials receive notice soon, they may take it as a general indication that Mr. Blaine has no idea of retaining them. There are a number of important vacancies that occur shortly after Mr. Blaine takes office. From the fact that he has only in one or two instances, have they been asked to remain. It is believed that this indicates that Mr. Blaine intends to fill many of the important appointive offices with men of his own choice.

Among some of the positions that are to be filled early in the term is the place of the tax commission now held by Nils P. Haugen; a position in the State dairy and food commission now held by George J. Weigle; a position of superintendent of public property now held by M. F. Blum; a position in the industrial commission now held by George P. Hambrecht; and a position on the State commission now held by S. Allen.

It is said that in many of the appointments, Mr. Blaine intends to consider to women, so that there will be many more women in important places in the state service.

(By the Associated Press) EL PASO, Texas.—The search for Clara Smith, wanted in connection with the death of Jake L. Smith, of Ardmore, Okla., ended today as far as local officers are concerned, when Miss Smith was almost within their grasp at Juarez.

The location of Miss Smith was learned through a confidential telegram, and the informants wanted a reward for disclosing her whereabouts. The sheriff construed the message to a telegram to Sheriff L. H. Smith of Ardmore to mean that Clara Smith was not wanted, and that there was no reward for her capture. He declared last night that he would not continue on the case.

SALARY RAISE OPPOSED BY GOV. PHILIPP

Says There Should be No Boost in School Salaries Now

That there should be no additional salary increases in educational institutions and that the question should be left to the legislature, as a matter of public policy was the statement of Gov. E. L. Philipp in appearing before the state educational board today. The board had under consideration the budgets of the different educational institutions of the state.

Gov. Philipp appeared before the state board of education this morning and made suggestions regarding budget proposals. He said that no salary increases should be allowed at this time in educational institutions. That question should be left to the legislature as a matter of public policy.

"This does not mean that I am opposed to increases but that the uncertainty of conditions and the view of the fact that action will probably not be taken until next May the question should be left open," he said.

"The same general principle applies to capital expenses. As a general rule I should be against any capital expenditures for the University except such a case as an addition to the chemistry building. The uncertainty of conditions here makes it advisable to leave this question open to the legislature."

Pres. Birge and Business Manager Thorkelson of the University were present at the afternoon meeting, and presented the university requests. The board will continue its consideration of the budgets which are to go to the State Board of Public Affairs for consideration before being given to the legislature.

Two Are Granted Pardons by Philipp

Two pardons were granted, three denied and about 20 others were under consideration, when Gov. E. L. Philipp resumed the pardon hearings Wednesday afternoon. Pardons were granted to Elmer Midway and Jerry Shafer, Milwaukee, convicted in July, 1920, of the stealing of a quantity of sugar and selling it. The two year sentence was reduced so that both men will be relieved on Jan. 1. Three pardons were denied: George Boll, Milwaukee county, convicted of larceny and sentenced to a five year term in the house of correction. Matt Mattison, Ashland county, convicted of assault with intent to rob, and sentenced to 10 years. Archie Lison, Green Bay, convicted of a statutory offense and sentenced to five years.

Discuss Labor Temple Finances Thursday

Plans for financing the Madison labor temple will be discussed at a meeting called by the Madison Labor Temple Ass'n for Thursday evening at labor hall. All union men have been invited to attend by Sol Reist, secretary, to decide on methods to be employed in raising money for the project. There has already been some response from business and professional men, and late a systematic campaign will be conducted to enable them to contribute. It is hoped that the campaign for funds will have progressed far enough by the latter part of January to vote on whether to build or buy one of several buildings which have been proposed.

One of the ambitions of the average man is to do those he has been done by.

WOULD BAR TAX ASSESSOR IN TOWNSHIP

Election of County Assessor Urged by State Tax Body

AGAINST OFFSET LAW Commission Favors Repeal of Income Tax Provision

The abolition of the office of town assessor and the election of a county assessor who shall be chosen by the civic service on an adequate salary for a long term is advocated by the state tax commission in a report sent to the governor today. The commission also recommends the repeal of the personal property offset to the income tax and changes in the income tax law.

The commission says that since the enactment of the income tax law only 57 per cent of the taxes levied have been collected in cash; 43 per cent of such tax has been offset by the personal property tax. The total amount of tax levied from 1913 to 1920 inclusive was $53,142,235.14. Of this amount $29,697,259.16 was collected in cash. In view of the present demand for revenue to meet public expenditures this seems to be an opportune time to repeal the offset provision. In 1920 the offset amounted to $5,571,606.41. With the repeal of the offset provision this amount would have been added to the revenue of the state.

The income tax is largely an urban tax. The total offset in 1920 was $5,571,606.41. Of this amount $4,666,777.79 was used in cities and only $904,828.62 in towns and villages.

The commission recommends that the family exemption of residents be extended to non-residents of the state to comply with the United States supreme court decision rendered on the same feature in the income tax law of New York. The commission refrains from recommending any increase in the exemptions now provided.

At present dividends from banks are not subject to the income tax in the hands of the stockholder but the commission recommends that in the event that the personal property effect provision be abolished that such dividends be taxed.

The commission also favors a more liberal treatment of the security provision in regard to income tax returns and quotes the division of markets and certain other civic bodies as having sought for information contained in income tax returns for the purpose of effectively carrying on their activities. It does not advocate opening up the returns to the general public but believes they should open to other departments under appropriate rules.

The commission recommends that the rate of taxation on individual incomes be made to correspond with the rate now applicable to corporations.

The first part of the report dwells upon the work of the commission during the biennial period. The great advance in the value of real estate is dwelt upon and the method of arriving at valuations for purposes of state assessment.

The state assessment of real estate in 1919 on a five year basis was $3,178,663.175 and in 1920 based on a three years' average of sales $3,565,811.38, or an increase of 12 per cent. If the five years' average of sales had been used in 1920 the increase would have been 6.33 per cent.

The valuations of railroads, whether based on capitalization or on the stock and bond market values, have decreased. In 1917 all railroads were assessed by the commission at $384,870,000 and paid taxes amounting to $5,323,476.69. In 1920 the assessment of railroads was $360,734,000 and the tax $6,837,066.47. In other words, while the value decreased $24,136,000 the tax paid by railroads increased $1,508,579.78.

This large increase in tax in spite of the decrease in valuation is due to the fact that public expenditures have increased far more relatively than values. This is accounted for in new public activities. The average tax rate of the state in 1917 was $13.84 per $1,000 of valuation, while in 1920 it had increased to $18.86.

U.S. Made World Safe For British, Says Miss M'Swiney

Sister of Late Lord Mayor Says More Trouble Coming When England Controls Oil; Wife to Testify Later

(By the Associated Press) LONDON.—The British government is considering whether it will request the United States government in the interests of Anglo-American friendship, to take official notice of the anti-British activities in America of Eamonn de Valera "president of the Irish Republic" according to a statement made today by Andrew Bonar Law in the House of Commons.

Miss M'Swiney Testifies (By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON.—Miss Mary MacSwiney, sister of the late lord mayor of Cork, testifying today before the committee of the 100 on the Irish question declared that "America has not made the world safe for Democracy, but had made it safe only for a short time, and especially for the British Empire."

"You sheathed the sword when England got what she wanted," Miss MacSwiney declared. "The world has been made safe for a little while, but when England gets control of all oil, all coal and all steel, she wants there will be other troubles."

Miss MacSwiney, wife of the late lord mayor, will testify later. "Against the insinuations that my fellow Republicans in Ireland did anything to secure the aid of the central powers" during the war.

"They did not," she said, "but if they had been able to do so they would have done so, adding that France was glad to get English gold to help her in the war and that England was equally glad to obtain American gold to aid her."

"Any nation," the witness continued, "has the right to take gold from another when it is at war. But let me make myself clear."

"If Germany tried to take Ireland we would fight Germany just as hard, just as long and just as earnestly and just as successfully as we have fought England."

FREDERICK DENOUNCES METHODS IN NAVY RECRUITING WORK

Says High School Boys Are Being Induced to Join on Promises of Trips Around the World; Sends Protest to Secy. Daniels

That the U. S. Navy Department is permitting, if not encouraging, dishonorable methods in obtaining recruits for the Navy is the public expression of opinion of A. E. Frederick, Wisconsin State Humane Officer, who is in Cameron investigating the methods employed here a few days ago by a Navy recruiting officer from Superior.

The recruiting officer, who has been working through northern Wisconsin, came to Cameron a few days ago, dropped into a pool room, and induced five local boys, high school students, to sign up for the Navy for a period of three years. A number of them are seniors, and would have graduated in June. Their names are: Neil Erstad, Roy Bartlett, Leonard Forsyth, Lester Martin, and Arthur Hegner, all of Cameron.

It is also said that misrepresentations of the life in the Navy were made to the young men, some of whom are 18 years old, but most of whom are only 17. Upon the promise of a trip around the world and other things next summer, then enlisted at once, without their parents' knowledge or consent, though legal consent was obtained later.

War Cost U.S. 24 Billions, Says Houston

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON.—The net cost of the war to the American government was fixed by Secy. Houston today at $24,010,000,000. This, he said, represented the "adjusted" expenditure of the treasury, excluding all other outlay which had no relation to the actual prosecution of the war during the period from April 6, 1917, to June 30, last.

Total expenditures excepting only postal disbursements from postal revenues, were $38,830,812,895, treasury figures showed. Mr. Houston said a deduction of $9,520,000,000, the amount loaned to foreign governments, should be made from the grand total since these loans will be repaid. The secretary made other deductions aggregating approximately $4,500,000,000, which he said represented the excess cost of actual governmental operations for the period over what they would have been in normal times.

Against Profits Tax. (By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON.—Immediate revision of the nation's tax laws on the basis of an annual levy of four billions of dollars for a period of four years, and including an increase of two per cent in the taxes on incomes up to $5,000, is urged by Secretary Houston in his annual report sent today to congress.

Repeal of the excess profits taxes, elimination of certain of the so-called luxury taxes, including the levy on soda fountain and similar beverages, and a readjustment of the rates in the higher groups of income taxes, is proposed by the treasury chief. To meet the losses brought about by these proposed changes, Mr. Houston recommends new taxes to about $2,000,000,000 as follows:

A tax of 20 per cent on corporation profits, distributed or undistributed, in addition to application of a higher surtax rate to yield $690,000,000.

An additional tax of 6 per cent on corporation incomes to yield $455,000,000.

Readjustment of surtax rates on incomes to yield an additional $230,000,000.

Abolishment of the $2,000 exemption allowed corporations on income to yield $55,000.

An increase from the present 4 per cent to 6 per cent in the tax on incomes of $5,000 or less, and from 8 per cent to 12 per cent in the tax on incomes between $5,000 and $10,000, the whole estimated to yield $150,940,000 annually.

A tax of 2 cents a gallon on gasoline for motor cars and all other purposes, to yield $30,000,000.

A federal license tax of 50 cents per horsepower on the use of motor cars to yield $100,000,000.

An additional sales tax on automobiles and motorcycles and motor car accessories to yield $100,000,000.

The excess profits tax, Mr. Houston declares, has not fulfilled the theoretical grounds upon which it was enacted and has been found to be wrong both in theory and in political philosophy. He says it discriminated against the conservative, financially sound corporations while aiding materially the firms whose capitalization is exaggerated.

An analysis of the government expenditures for the last fiscal year shows that almost one-fifth of the $6,400,000,000 paid out was spent in connection with federal control and the guaranty of earnings for the railroads. Only one department—the war department—spent more than was used in connection with the carriers. The war department's total was $1,611,000,000 against $1,037,000,000 for the railroads.

Wilson Spent Over Million in Paris

WASHINGTON.—A special message giving the complete expenses of the American peace commission during its work abroad was transmitted to the senate today by Pres. Wilson. Total expenditures amounted to $1,651,191.09 from Dec. 1, 1918, to Dec. 4, 1920. The amount actually paid out was $1,703,712.06, but repayments and gains in exchange reduced this by $52,520.97.

Here's the present for Father—from the family

It's becoming fashionable these last few years for the family to pool interests when it gets around to Father—and give him something more substantial than cigars—and suspenders.

And next to a self tending furnace the gift we have in mind is about as fine a Christmas morning welcome as a Dad could desire.

It's a great, big warm, stylish dark Oxford Overcoat that he could wear to Church on Sunday—the movie on Monday—lodge on Tuesday—a lecture on Wednesday and still have lots of good warmth and looks left for the last of the week—should one of his friends stage a stag.

We know his size—you know he'd like it.

The cost is $23-$38-$43-$49 Which is less than cost to us.

A small amount to raise for so wonderful a remembrance.

MAJOR KELIHER TO LEAVE UNIVERSITY

Maj. John H. Keliher, assistant commandant of the university cadet corps, will leave December 20, for Fort Sill, Okla., where he will take up a six months' course in the school of fire. He hopes to return to Madison next summer in order to be present for the 1921-22 term.

Communications with respect to Major Keliher's possible successor have been received although no definite appointments have been made. The officer to fill his place will probably be a major of infantry.

Commandant John S. Wood and assistant commandant Orlando Ward have recently received their majorities in the the appointments now being made by the government by seniority.

DIPLOMACY IS DRENCHED IN BLOOD, CLAIM

Canada Delegate Assails Move to Cut Power of Assembly

SEE MONOPOLY DANGER

Outbreak Stuns European Delegates at Session Today

(By the Associated Press) GENEVA — Plans proposed for the formation of the technical organizations of the League of Nations, dealing with finance, health and transportation, were attacked at today's session of the league's assembly by Newton Wesley Rowell, former president of the Canadian privy council.

These plans, the Canadian ex-minister declared, tended to take such organizations out of the hands of the assembly, which should control them, and throw them under the influence of Europe through the impossibility of the non-European nations sending their best men to three or four conferences annually.

"Fifty thousand Canadian soldiers under the sod in Europe is the price Canada has paid for the European statesmanship which drenched the continent in blood," Mr. Rowell, exclaimed.

The Canadian ex-minister's energetic intervention in debate took the assembly by surprise. Most of the European delegates gave no signs of recovery from their astonishment as the Canadian delegate concluded, but he was warmly applauded from all the other benches.

Debate had been opened by Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, of Norway. Dr. Nansen insisted upon the necessity of cooperation in these organizations by countries not members of the league. He called attention to the participation to non-members in previous financial conferences and other consultations and pointed to the substantial aid they had given in the work of repatriating prisoners of war.

NOVEL CORN HUSKER AND CAR AID FARMERS AND SHIPPERS

Auto-truck freight car built and used by a Long Island City, N. Y., firm to speed up freight delivery, and one-man corn husker tractor in use in Illinois.

Ingenious devices for aiding in the production and delivery of foodstuffs are being developed almost daily, it seems. Here we have a novel freight car—of standard dimensions, built to be hauled about city streets by auto truck. If necessary the car can be placed on railway wheel. It is designed to help relieve freight congestion. Illinois farmers are using one-man corn huskers pulled by tractors. These machines not only husk the corn but feed the shucked ears into a wagon. Each machine, run by one man, does the work which formerly from four to eight men did. The new tractor and attachments not only saves the cost of additional labor, but is always at hand.

Increase in Resources is Reported by State Department

Highly encouraging is the condition of the 836 state banks trust companies and savings banks of Wisconsin according to the state banking department. The total increase in resources, less redemptions, over the bank reports of Nov. 17, 1915, is $51,164,044.

Nov. 15, 1920, the total resources, less redemptions, were $520,502,972. 52 while Nov. 17, 1919, they were $469,338,927.86. There was a slight decrease of $4,380,620.65 between this call and that of Sept. 8. There was a small increase in loans and discounts of $2,953,081.55, and in other stocks, securities and bonds amounting to $1,851,969.08. Cash in vaults was $339,183.36.

On the liability side during the two months between Nov. 15 and Sept. 8, there was a marked increase in several items. The surplus was raised by $12,114.50, undivided profits $1,854,486.06, savings deposits $4,775,823.68. United State deposits $329,856.35 and postal savings deposits $7,823.15.

Three one-act plays, under the direction of Julia Hanks '21, Eleanor Riley '21, and Elizabeth Sehon '22, will be presented by the Red Domino dramatic societies tonight at 8 in Lathrop parlors.

"Where But in America?" featuring Edith Royce '22, Olivia Fentress '23, and John Warren '22, is a satirical farce, the scene of which is laid in Chicago. The characters are: the young wife, slavishly dependent upon her Swedish maid, the serenely Americanized young maid, and the perplexed husband.

Frances Ryan '21, Henry Rubel '22, and Miriam Doan '22, will play the three parts in the second of the plays to be presented. "The Bank Account" is the intense story of the frivolous wife and her harassed husband.

The program will conclude with "Elena's Husband," a modernized, "boishevized," socialized story of Troy. Esther Guerin '22, Agnes Samuels '21, Donald Marvin '22, Lee McCandless '23, and David Lacey '21, make up the cast. HUGE ENEMY PLOT CHARGED

Claim German Enlisted to Lead U. S. Troops to Slaughter

(By the Associated Press) NEW YORK—Hans Willet, alias John A. Williams, was held today awaiting action by army officials on a confession he is alleged to have made to police yesterday that he was a German spy.

Although he had been sought as a deserter, alleged to have absconded after the armistice with $6,000 in company funds, his confession of espionage came as a surprise.

Hugh J. Hannigan, a former lieutenant under his command, on whose identification Willet was arrested, said not a man under the captain's command had ever suspected he was a German sympathizer.

Willet said, according to detectives, that he was one of 300 cadets who had trained in Germany and were sent to this country to enlist in the U. S. army. The scheme, he is alleged to have said, was for the cadets to lead units of soldiers to France and expose them in dangerous positions for slaughter.

His wife, who was formerly a Miss Crawford of Chicago, called at the police station today, and asked the police for his keys and his money. When told Willet had been taken to Governor's Island, she said she would go to see him later. They have lived for more than a year on Riverside Drive, she said.

Increase Number of Newsstands to Accommodate Patrons

More than twice as many copies of the Literary magazine were sold yesterday than ever before on the first day of sale, according to Horace Powell, circulation manager.

The increased number of newsstands at which the magazine was sold was one cause of this sale. The Lit was sold in 25 places in Madison, between Menages drug store in Wingra park, and the Northwestern station. It was also placed on many of the large newsstands in Milwaukee, at the request of the dealer who owns them.

Subscriptions have come in from all parts of the country, from New York city to California, and even as far south as Brazil. There is also an unusually large subscription list in Madison this year.

The Literary magazine will be on sale again today.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre At Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it turns gray, and looks old, it is a great disadvantage. Just a few applications of Sage and Sulphur Combs will bring back its natural color and give it a beautiful lustre. Prepare the recipe at home from any drug store a bottle of Sage and Sulphur Combs, which is merely the old-fashioned recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this hair-restoring preparation, because it keeps the hair beautifully, besides, it keeps the scalp healthy, and the hair naturally falls out, as it does naturally, and evenly. You can see a sample of the brush in the drawing this through the hair. The small strand at the time of drawing the gray hair disappears. Another application or two of natural color is restored, and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

PLAN TO MOVE STATE BUREAUS

Effort Will be Made to Transfer Departments to Milwaukee

An effort will be made at the coming session of the legislature to move a number of the departments of the state to Milwaukee. Word to this effect has been received in Madison from Milwaukee, where a member of the Association of Commerce in that city declared that the association would interest itself in affecting the move.

The plan was given an impetus with the announcement that the present new state capitol was already inadequate and that an entire office building had to be rented to house the departments during the coming session of the legislature. Probably 20 departments will be moved to the Overland building in Madison before Jan. 1. A lease has been made for six years.

The Milwaukee man claims that considerable work of the state could be transacted in Milwaukee and that if new buildings are to be erected, Milwaukee should be the place. M. P. Blumenthal, superintendent of public property, declared that more capitol space was needed and that a building should be erected in Madison on E. Washington avenue to house the over-flowing departments. It could be connected with the capitol heating tunnel and furnished with light and heat with very little extra expense.

It is claimed here that Gov. Elect Blaine will attempt to reduce some of the capitol departments and that by arrangement of the capitol space the erection of a new building will be obviated.

General Tax Levy 20 Mills for Next Year

Only 20 mills are levied as a general tax on property in the city as a result of the action of the council Tuesday morning, yielding $1,622,426.22. The remaining 2 1/2 mills are levied as a special school tax, amounting to $202,803.27. This is done to keep within the city charter, which provides a maximum tax rate of 20 mills. A state law authorizes an additional special tax for school purposes.

Lutheran Church to Erect New Building

Three adjacent lots on University ave., including the site at the corner of N. Mills st. and University ave., have been bought by Luther Memorial church as a site for a new $150,000 church edifice. The consideration was $36,000. The property will be turned over to the church March 1, 1921, and plans will be formed immediately for the building.

The residence of Charles L. Harper, 1029 University ave., will be used as a parish house. The deal was made through the office of the Stark Land Co., both parties being represented by J. W. Riley of that office.

PLAN TO COLLECT MADISON PLEDGES FOR UNION FUND

The Union Board has taken over the work of collecting subscriptions from Madison alumni for the Wisconsin Memorial Union building. There are over a thousand of these alumni, and, in order to facilitate collection, plans have been devised in which the city is divided into wards, and cards bearing the name and house number of every alumnus in each ward have been prepared.

TO ASK $400,000 SOLDIER HOSPITAL

American Legion Will Request State to Erect Psychopathic Hospital

A new $400,000 psychopathic hospital to care for the ex-service men who were injured during the war, the proposed building to be erected as a part of the university outlay by the state, will be asked of the next legislature by the American legion, according to Maj. W. F. Lorenz, addressing member of the local branch of the American legion last night.

The New York state plan, provides for the adoption of a similar scheme, the federal government maintains and equips a hospital for 10 years, at the end of which period the cost of building has been wiped out by a 10 per cent yearly payment. It then becomes property of the state. Under Major Lorenz's plan this procedure would be followed here.

Ex-soldiers at the Mendota hospital are able to receive only half the benefits of their federal allotment because of the state regulations, on their appropriations, according to Major Lorenz.

"The federal allotment for each of these disabled men is $2.50," he said, "but because of the restrictions of state rules on the hospital appropriations, only $1.25 can be used."

Two names were submitted for post commander to succeed Major George W. O'Connell. They were Timothy Brown and Oscar T. Toebeas.

Vets May Reinstate War Risk Insurance

During December ex-service men, who originally held war risk insurance, still have an opportunity to reinstate their insurance without a medical examination, provided they have not been discharged over 18 months. After Jan. 1, of they desire to have their insurance reinstated, they will have to pay for their own examination. Ex-service men who desire to have their insurance reinstated should call at the Red Cross offices at the Association of Commerce in the Cantwell building as soon as possible. The office is open from 9 a. m. to 12 m. After Dec. 15 it will be open all day.

Maj. Merz to Return
Maj. A. S. Merz, who has been around the world during the three years since he left Madison, arrives in New York today and will be in this city by the middle of the month, according to word received here yesterday. He spent two and a half years in Siberia, which country he left last July.

Would Be Thieves Hit Grocer and Wife

Two men entered Abraham Gazevitz' grocery store Mound and Murray streets, last night and after arguing over the purchase of some candy started toward the cash register.

"I was in the store at about 8:30 when the two men came in and asked for a box of candy," said Gazevitz today. "I told them that I had no box candy and they asked for a quarter's worth of mixed. They took some apples and began eating them I said I would charge them for the apples. When I stooped to open the cash register one of them struck me. Then one of the men went toward the cash register and I grabbed a broom. While we were fighting in the store my wife came in and one of the men hit her. When I called they ran out."

Both men were white and one had only one arm, according to Gazevitz. He said there were three negroes in the store at the time, but that they did not interfere.

TEACH CHILDREN TO TAKE PRIDE IN U. S.

Prof. Aust Tells Roxanas to Foster National Spirit

Because future generations will have to live in an industrial age in which many of the present advantages before the Roxana club in the eyes of our nation will disappear, the children should be taught the essentials of citizenship and national pride as were the ancient Spartans, according to Prof. F. A. Aust, speaking before the Roxana club in the city Y. M. C. A. last night.

"This subject of community centers can perhaps be worked out in this city better than in any other, with few exceptions in America," he declared. "Here we have groups of every kind of society. This condition is not duplicated perhaps in 10 other cities in America."

Prof. Aust showed how the Greeks owed the greater portion of their success in building up a wonderful civilization to the fact that the youth was taken over by the state at 7 years of age to 30.

The plan for Madison would include the supervision of the youth by older people, teaching them the importance of our natural resources, their conservation, and the great importance and responsibility of citizenship.

Announcement of the Christmas party of Roxana club was made to take place Dec. 21, and all members are invited to come and bring with them their feminine friends, wives and acquaintances.

Despite the fact that sugar has come down, labor and rents are still sodas. Until overhead expenses are reduced, there will be no drop in prices, according to "Dad" Morgan, proprietor of Morgan Brothers. "The drop in the price of sugar," said C. L. Sniffen, proprietor of the Candy shop, "does not materially affect the price of ice cream. Cream is the important item in the manufacture of ice cream, and that has not come down in the price enough to count."

So high that a decrease in the price of ice cream is impossible, was the opinion of the proprietor of the Chocolate shop.

NO FALL IN PRICES IN ICE CREAM SODAS

"GRANDEST ON EARTH" STATES MRS. UNOLD

Millwaukee Woman Gained Fifteen Pounds Taking Tanlac and Never Felt Better," She Says.

"It was Tanlac that put me on the road to health and happiness when nothing else seemed to help me any, and I can never praise the medicine enough," said Mrs. May Unold of 693 Fifth St., Milwaukee, Wis.

"For two or three years before I got Tanlac my stomach was terribly disordered, and nothing I ate seemed to agree with me. I suffered terribly with indigestion, and gas formed in such quantities it simply made me miserable. I couldn't ever enjoy a meal, and my head ached so bad that frequently it just felt like it would split open. I didn't know what it was to get a good night's sleep, and would get up feeling tired and worn out often worse than when I retired. I had little strength or energy, and never felt like looking after my work. "I knew some people who were getting such splendid results from Tanlac that I began taking it myself, and it proved to be the very thing I was needing, for it has only taken six bottles of the medicine to fix me up just fine. I enjoy all my meals now, my stomach never troubles me a particle, and the headaches have all disappeared. I sleep like a child every night, have actually gained fifteen pounds in weight, and have recovered my strength and energy so that I always feel fit for my daily duties. I have already told a great many about the wonderful good Tanlac has done me, and I can't recommend the medicine too highly."

Tanlac is sold in Madison by the Luckey Pharmacies, and in Mazomanie by Geo. A. Shields, in Mt. Horeb by C. C. Robertshaw, in Cambridge by Ole Bilstad, and by the leading druggists in every town.—Adv.

BLACK AND WHITE TURBAN FROM PARIS

Paris designers, it seems, can do more with the black and white combination than any other artists. Here is a stunning black and white turban which is undeniably Parisian. It is the shape of a coolie hat. The oriental tendency is modernized by the addition of white coque feathers. How a prospective mother prepared for baby's coming

Of all the vital adventures in life, the birth of a baby is the climax of nature's most wonderful evolution.

During this period, nature is supposed to be preparing the internal organism of a woman for a safe and speedy delivery; but it is more the exception than the rule when nature, unaided, performs her part at the crisis in a manner to relieve pain and contribute to comfort.

"I was afraid," writes a prospective mother, "until an experienced mother told me about MOTHER'S FRIEND."

"—but now I cannot recommend MOTHER'S FRIEND too highly for I know it helped me wonderfully, and I can almost say my baby was born without pain. At the present time I am using it again, as I do not want to go through the ordeal without it."

Three generations of prospective mothers have used MOTHER'S FRIEND. When gently applied, during the period of expectancy, it soothes the fine network of nerves, lubricates the broad, flat, abdominal muscles and prepares the way for an easier, quicker and practical delivery.

For valuable booklet—"MOTHERHOOD and The BABY"—free, fill in coupon below and mail direct to the makers of MOTHER'S FRIEND.

WARNING: Avoid using plain oils, grease and embolisms—they act only on the skin and may cause harm without doing good.

FEATURE WRITER ADDRESSES CLASS

Miss Leverage Danneragan, a writer of special feature articles on the staff of The Farmer's Wife, St. Paul, Minnesota, gave a talk yesterday morning to Prof. W. G. Reppert's class in feature writing in the department of journalism.

"Personal experience articles are what we want most," emphasizing the importance of the story of how one woman refurnished her house may help another woman to do the same thing," said Miss Danneragan, advising the class on the kind of article that would sell best. "Pictures will always help to sell your article, because when several articles come in at once the one that is read first is always the one with the most interesting pictures."

Miss Danneragan is a graduate of the class of 1916 of the department of agricultural journalism of the Iowa Agricultural college at Ames, Iowa.

BILLY WHISKERS

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

"Well, at any rate I'm not worrying," said Brownie, as the animals made ready for bed on the night the automobile arrived. "Why, this morning you saw our farmyard beauty, the Duke of Windham, along with Dick's Plymouth Rock, Toppy, as they started for the exhibit. They'll be prize winners, or I miss my guess. The Treat farm is always well represented. By the way, Billy, are you going? Lots of fun—such fun as you've never seen. Better come along," cordially.

"Oh, I'll be there. But be sure you are among those present, that is all," retorted the goat, with a knowing wink.

Going to walk, same as you did to get to the circus?" prodded droll Brownie.

"Not if I know it," was Billy's quick reply. Ambling up closer, he reached up and whispered confidentially:

"I'm going in the automobile, with the rest of the family. A goat of my experience and breeding goes with the best," and with that Billy stalked off, head held high, well satisfied at having filled Brownie as full of uncomfortable forebodings as he himself had been a short time before.

"I surely smell doughnuts," thought Billy, as he sniffed the keen outside air, and he quickened his steps toward the kitchen, and on into the pantry he walked to savor the results of Mrs. Treat's day spent at baking and brewing.

"Dear me! there surely are doughnuts somewhere about. Ah, there they are, and a two-gallon crock piled high with the brown beauties! really think that all these doughnuts, six pies all in a row, a chocolate cake, and then another that they call a sponge, besides three fried chickens in that earthen bowl, are just a little more than the boys ought to be allowed to eat tomorrow. It might make them sick, and so I'll play the good fairy and remove temptation from their path," and Billy fell to with a will.

His stomach was commencing to bulge with the goodies, and even his goatish appetite was half satisfied, when Whack! Whack! resounded a broomstick on Billy's broad back, wielded vigorously by the mistress of the household. Discouraged and back beaten, his goatship scurried to the barn, there to nurse his many grievous wrongs.

"Small use in my trying to do right," he cogitated. "Somebody is always against me, and as soon as I am up, they are sure to knock me down. I am getting sore," and he rubbed his poor back against Brownie's stall. "Anyway," there's a good time ahead tomorrow."

As he sought his bed of fragrant hay, his thoughts ran:

"Wonder what a fair is like. Maybe just a miniature circus, and then it will be a bore to me. But I'll go in the auto. That will be a new experience, anyway. Will sit on the front seat, too; if not going to the fair, at least on the return trip. There will be room for me somewhere. They say where there's a will there's a way, and I am the Will in this instance. With a good night's rest and an early breakfast, I will be in trim and—and—" but Billy was off to the land of dreams.

(Tomorrow the Treats start for the fair.)

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young married woman and have been married two years. I was 17 and my husband was 19 when we were married. We lived happily until three months ago and then he left me without any cause.

I went to the city and got a position. He was gone about two months and then I received a letter from him and he said he still loved me and asked if I would forgive him and take him back.

I still loved him and could not understand his motives unless he was influenced to leave me. I forgave him and he came back. We have lived happily ever since. I know he still loves me because he does everything to make me happy.

Do you think I did right? Do you think he will ever leave me again? BROWN EYES.

Yes, I think you did the right thing in taking your husband back. Whether or not he will leave you again, I cannot say. It is probable, however, that he learned his lesson and will not go another time. Do not think or talk about his going, and trust that he will not leave you again.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: What can I do to make my finger nails grow in at the side?

What causes my nose to be red, especially when I become excited or warm? What can I do to stop it? I have heard it was caused by a nasal disease. THANK YOU.

Press the sides of the nail to the finger. If you work with them once or twice a day, shaping them as you want them to go, you may find that they grow in the way you desire. It is difficult, however, to change nature's course in such a matter.

Consult a physician about your nose. There are various reasons why it may get red. A physician who understands the case is the only one who could prescribe intelligently.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 19 years old. Kindly answer the following questions:

1. What does it mean when a gentleman friend, after escorting you home, and before departing, presents you with a match?
2. What is the object or meaning of wanting to wear a girl's ring after several dates with her?
3. Is it proper for a girl to kiss a fellow if asked by him after she has kept company for a month?

To cleanse vinegar cruets and other glassware on which unsightly deposits have accumulated, fill the bottle with a half-dozen buckshot or small pebbles and warm water, to which is added a pinch of baking soda and a sprinkle of washing powder. Shake vigorously. If the deposit is very thick leave overnight. Then rinse thoroughly with clean hot water.

If there is good hot water in the faucet try this way of rinsing the dishes: Stack the dishes upright in the drying pan and pour on a liberal supply of hot water. The dishes will dry themselves. If you have a section of rubber tubing attach to the faucet and spray through the tubing.

The drainboard should always be at the left of the sink, and high enough to prevent stooping at work. Have stacking surface to the right. Wash dishes of same size together. The drainpan should conform to the size and shape of the sink. Sitting down to work makes the strain less.

Y. M. C. A.	0	2	.000
Chamberlain-Vetter	0	3	.000

A five minute overtime period enabled Speth's Five to score a brilliant victory over the Wingra Park quintet, 20 to 18, last night at the Lincoln school in the Madison Basketball association game.

The encounter was staged at Lincoln school before a large crowd. The Wingra Park quintet started out strong and held a three-point lead when the first period was half played. Then the leaders substituted at two positions and the shifts worked out disastrously. Speth's coming from behind to get the big end of a 12 to 3 score at the intermission. The Park quintet came back with its original lineup in the second half and played desperately, the count being knotted at 18 all when the timer's whistle blew.

Gerhard's free-throwing played a big part in the win. He put six out of nine chances from the foul-line. Littell of the losers made only two out of seven.

Lineup:
Speth's Five: I. F. Carroll, R. E. Wohlford, R. E. Beale, G. Gerhardt, L. G. Brodie, R. G. Substitution—Miller for Beale.
Rockets—Wohlford, 2; Gerhardt, 2; Carroll, 1; Miller, 1; Brodie, 1; Roberts, 3; Jessell, 3; Romig, 1; Brown, 1.
Free throws—Gerhardt, 6; Littell, 2.

Baracas Win.
The Baraca club, burying the Pantorium Five under a 14 to 3 score, moved up into a tie with Wingra Park. The losers, playing their first game, showed latent power and will develop into a team that may upset the leaders, but last night poor teamwork, the result of but little practice, brought about their downfall.

CALL ISSUED FOR LARGER SQUAD OF FROSH WRESTLERS

Suggest Use of Boat House to Meet Need for Bigger
Quarters

Only eleven first year men have responded to the call for freshman wrestlers, and athletic authorities are appealing for a larger number of candidates to report to Coach G. T. Hitchcock.

The small freshman squad works out in the gym wrestling room on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons from 3:30 to 4:00. All freshman athletes, regardless of weight and experience, who are interested in the wrestling game are asked to report to Coach Hitchcock for a tryout on one of these afternoons.

Twenty-three men are left to battle for positions on the varsity wrestling squad after the tryouts of last week. The fine early season showing of these men has strengthened Hitchcock's hopes for a winning squad.

Squad is Aggressive
"The men are strong and aggressive wrestlers," declared Coach Hitchcock Tuesday afternoon. "They are a little weak in the scientific points of the game, but we are practicing four afternoons each week and expect to show mid-season form very early."

The varsity squad has added a new position for bantam weight wrestlers who weigh between 108 and 110 pounds. The bantam weight matches have proved popular in professional wrestling, and the confidence of these men has strengthened Hitchcock's hopes for a winning squad.

The urgent need of the Wisconsin wrestling squad is for larger quarters in which to train. That the number of men reporting for wrestling is not larger is ascribed by Coach Hitchcock to the fact that the gym wrestling room cannot accommodate many candidates. For this reason, Hitchcock has been forced to announce that he can handle only 24 freshmen.

May Use Boat House
Wrestling enthusiasts and members of the varsity and frosh squads are pushing a movement to have the upper story of the boat house renovated and heated for the use of the wrestling teams. The boat house is large enough so that Coach Hitchcock would have no difficulty in handling any number of candidates who reported for the mat squad, while the small quarters in the gym forces the coach to cut down the squad before every man has had an opportunity to show his ability.

STUDENT RELIEF FOR EUROPE IS GIVEN SUPPORT

Senate and S. G. A. Endorse
Plans of National Committee

"Practically none of the students of central Europe has had a daily breakfast since 1917. Many have had only a crust of dry bread and have not tasted butter or chocolate for four years."

Statements like this made by travelers returning from central Europe, brought about the inauguration of the European student relief fund that has just been endorsed by the student senate and S. G. A. at Wisconsin.

The collection of the fund, which is in the hands of the American Relief administration, headed by Herbert Hoover, former food administrator, was inaugurated by student representatives of 39 nations at a meeting of the World Student Christian federation held in Switzerland last August.

Sherwood Eddy, prominent Y. M. C. A. worker, gives a most graphic account of conditions and the work that is being done.

He tells of students trying to support their mothers and sisters on less than $6 a month, of a doctor of philosophy who is learning shoe-making, of a student of music who is trying to eke out her existence by spending 60 cents a month on food and 65 cents a month on her music.

"Many students in the technical college are working as laborers, mechanics and woodcutters to appease their hunger, but after four years of under-feeding the students have not enough strength for effective manual work," says Mr. Eddy.

"A student association has been formed to furnish relief for these students, and 2,200 are being fed one meal a day. They are charged one third of a cent for the breakfast. The meal consists of about one tenth of a loaf of white bread and a cup of cocoa."

Certain fish are stated to be able to open an oyster better than human beings can do.

GRID SEASON SHOWS PROFIT

Clear Gain of Over $50,000
is Reported by University Athletic Dept. for Year's Games

Financial success attended the University of Wisconsin in her football season this year according to figures made public recently. A total of $84,500 was the Badger share of gate receipts paid in by 105,500 spectators who saw the team in action at five conference games. More than $50,000 of this amount is clear gain.

The Chicago game alone brought in $24,000 from an attendance of 30,000 persons, while the Minnesota game played at Minneapolis, is said to have resulted in a return of $15,000 from 20,000 spectators, and the Illinois game here ran a close third with $14,000 from an attendance of 22,000 persons. Ohio state at Columbus came forth with $12,500 from a 20,000 attendance, and Northwestern, was last with $9,000 from an attendance of 11,500 persons.

When Coach John R. Richards closed a deal with Coach Stagg of Chicago last year for a five game series to be played at Chicago, he is said to have made a step that has already produced financial results for Wisconsin. Returns from the first of these annual contests has brought nearly $10,000 more than any other of the games.

Camp Randall, the Badger athletic field will profit by the increased finances it is said, in a proposed development estimated to cost $30,000. Baseball and track, which it is stated have not been in the past very successful financially will also profit by larger resources from which to draw for trips and equipment, it is announced.

OPPOSE ISSUANCE OF "COLORED" NEWS

A definite stand against promiscuous journalistic efforts which have resulted in the false reports of university conditions such as the article appearing in the last Sunday edition of the Milwaukee Journal was taken by Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalistic fraternity, in their meeting last night at the Phi Beta Phi house.

Marie Bodden '21, spoke briefly concerning the effect that indiscriminate subordinating of journalistic ideals to the matter of earning a few dollars has upon the university as well as upon the profession of journalism. The organization has gone on record as being behind any movement of the university to suppress such practices.

After the business discussion, the meeting was given over to reading of original literary productions by the following members: Helen Powder '21, Rachel Commons '21, Alice Munro '21, Katherine Beebe '21, Katherine Rockwell '22, and Mildred Gerlach '23.

LINE REPRODUCTION WILL BE EXPLAINED

A demonstration of line reproduction will be given at the meeting of the Arts and Crafts club tomorrow night by Herbert Brockhausen '22, art director of the 1922 Badger. The demonstration will show what kind of lines reproduce best, and the difference between professional drawing and most amateur drawing for reproduction.

The members of the club and others who are interested in the subject will meet at the Applied Arts laboratory, leaving there at 7:30 for the print shop, where the demonstration will be held.

This is the second of a series of practical aids to campus artists. The first was a lecture and demonstration on poster lettering and the use of the air-brush by John Schaub of a Madison sign-painting concern.

ROUNDS RAZZBERRIES

I was at the ringside at the Mitchell-Britton fight Monday night.

I would call the bout a draw if the title was at stake on the night.

At the end of ten rounds of course Britton would have been given the decision.

Of all the boxers I have seen, Britton is the best I ever laid my eyes on. He has got everything to hold the title.

It was a beautiful exhibition of boxing and the science of the game I ever saw. The infighting was pretty.

Pinkey Mitchell sure is a comer. To hold the sly fox to a draw is a victory in itself. Britton was right Monday night. He had everything.

I am a great friend of the Mitchells personally. I predict that the Pinkey will attain a higher ranking in the fighting game than his Brother Richie.

He is long and rangy. Looks like a boxing master in there. Has a dandy left, a nice right cross, is fast, looks like a greyhound in action, beat Britton to a lot of punches and counters, used the one-two punch on back a lot. That is a boxing phrase for that great punch.

Britton is 37 years old, has a sprinkling of grey hair on his head, always boxes just enough to win. He is known among the boxers as the Old Master of the Ring.

I saw with Ted Jamison and Walter Grey Jack the Bantam champ, of Wisconsin, and who wants to show his stuff up here soon.

Jamison boxes Wiggins at Michigan this month. His hand is healed up in good shape since the Greb Bout. He broke his hand in the second round with Greb.

There were about 8,000 at the fight. It was packed. The preliminaries were fair. A great sprinkling of ladies was in the crowd.

Sam Woldenberg was in the first row. I introduced him to Mitchell, Tom Andrews and Bull Sadky. This one Sam is a fan and we should do all we can to get him on the boxing commission. Is well liked in Milwaukee and is a personal friend of Low Tenders and his manager.

Harry Stout who used to referee fights here years ago at the Turner Hall refereed the preliminaries at the fight got away in good shape has been refereeing out in Denver of late a good deal.

Britton always takes him along to referee his fights for him the same as Freddie Welsh used to do but was up against it in Wisconsin by the state boxing law.

I can not see how he needs to carry one along as all he needs is a ring this Britton and then for the fire works.

And if this Bunny hug goes on at this fight I will not put any more hope on fights at Turner Hall again in my column.

This column is for the fans, not for a couple of these dub fighters who think the Indians are running wild up here yet.

Jack and Bob Boyd were at the ringside. They have a card for the

CONCERT BEGINS CELEBRATION OF PILGRIM LANDING

A concert by the Madison Choral union set in motion the state-wide commemoration of the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrims last night at 8 o'clock at the university armory.

Two elaborate numbers, "The Wreck of the Hesperus," a cantata, and "The Rock of Liberty," a Pilgrim ode, were presented by the Choral union, in a chorus of about 200 voices. The chorus was assisted by Miss Mary Moutray, soprano, Miss Josephine Jones, contralto, Prof. E. Earle Swinney, baritone, Prof. Charles H. Mills, pianist, and Prof. Lowell L. Townsend, pianist.

The music for the first number, "The Wreck of the Hesperus," was composed by Prof. Charles H. Mills of the Music school and a large ovation was accorded him by the audience, not only for the excellence of his composition, but also for the artistic and completely sympathetic manner in which he rendered the piano score.

The chorus work was unusually well co-ordinated and artistic throughout the program, especially in consideration of the extreme difficulty of both numbers, and the fact that the chorus was large and composed of amateurs. The first number is an elaborate tone-poem, holding in it the wild abandonment of the sea, with a thousand different intricacies of harmony. The chorus picked up the difficult modulations with good effect.

"The Rock of Liberty," the music for which was composed by Rosseter C. Cole, former director of the Wisconsin Music school here, is more massive in structure than the first number, and the effort is more that of a sustained volume of tone than of intricately shaded modulation. It represents the vision, the struggle, and final triumph and achievement of the Pilgrims in the new land.

Much credit is due the soloists, Miss Moutray, Mr. Swinney, and Miss Jones, for their sympathetic rendition of the solo portions of the two numbers. Prof. Peter W. Dykema, musical director, is to be commended for his splendid work in handling so large an amateur chorus.

Boyd are in the hole on this boxing game they give good money to those boxers to fight and these Boyd boys will just stop some of these bouts on the start from now on if they don't mix, mark my word, they have seen all of the great fighters.

PLAN ENLARGED GRID FIELD AT CAMP RANDALL

Stadium Will Seat 30,000
by Next Year Says Jones;
to Prevent Ticket
Scalping

A stadium capable of seating 30,000 persons to be completed before the season opens next fall is contemplated for the University of Wisconsin, according to T. E. Jones, director of athletics. Under the present program, he said, the university will have one of the best athletic fields in the country. The legislature will be asked to appropriate funds for the development of the Camp Randall bowl, it was announced.

Over $30,000 is assured from receipts of football games this fall, Director Jones said. This will be used to extend the concrete stands higher, to enclose the structure with concrete as a retaining wall, and to provide entrances from the back. Another tier of seats will be added, it is said, at each end of the stands.

The legislative appropriation if granted, it was said, would be used to start development of the bowl on the opposite side of the field. Director Jones said that the new structure would take the place of the present wooden structure which has been condemned, while locker and training quarters will be provided beneath the stands. It is estimated that between $50,000 and $75,000 would be needed to start this development.

"The only way to prevent ticket scalping and dissatisfaction is to provide a sufficient number of seats for everyone," Mr. Jones said, and added, "we do not care to go through another year under crowded conditions such as we have experienced during the last year."

"Our development," he said, "must be made with the future in view. The extension of good roads about Madison will lead to ever increasing crowds, and the university must be prepared to handle them at the athletic field. When completed the bowl will seat 50,000."

Camp Randall is planned as the best athletic field in the west, it was said. Its football field is to be but one of the features, Mr. Jones said, and added that the grounds are to be prepared to care for every outdoor sport. Director Jones said that a large baseball diamond with concrete stands is to be erected directly behind the bowl at the south end, and an extension to the girls' athletic field will be made.

Wisconsin's running track, Coach Jones believes, will be the best in the country when completed. He has made a careful study of all the better tracks here and in Europe and has combined what he believes to be their good features, eliminating the bad points, for the Camp Randall field. A 402 yard straightway and a 120 yard straightway will be developed. Two or three years will be required to get the track into shape, it was announced.

A concrete wall is to be built along the road at the south end of the field. Provisions will then be made for parking automobiles, it was stated.

Keck Chosen to Lead Tiger Eleven in '21

PRINCETON—James Stanton Keck of Greensburg, Pa., was chosen captain today of Princeton's 1921 football team. Keck, tackle, was Princeton's mainstay in the line this year.

Delta Tau Delta fraternity will give a formal dinner dance at the chapter lodge, Mendota court, Friday evening, December 10. Mr. and Mrs. William J. Teckmeyer will chaperone.

DOLPHIN CLUB WILL SHOW FANCY DIVING

Dolphin club members will give their first exhibition of life-saving and fancy diving in Lathrop pool tomorrow night, at 7:30. Difficult dives and strokes will be illustrated including a water-snake dance, two-legged race, a tub race, porpoise diving, plunging, and double diving. The Dolphin dive, the emblem of the club, will be made by every member. The new seal dive will be the opening number of the program. Another feature will be the spelling out of the name of the club in the water. Olga Anderson, one of the members of the club will illustrate how to break the strangle hold—a dangerous hold taken by a person who is being rescued from drowning.

All women are invited, and those men who have previously secured tickets from some member of the club will be admitted.

Propose National Boxing Association

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Formation of a national association to have control of boxing throughout the United States will be considered at a meeting to be held in New York late this month, it was learned today.

The proposal is sponsored by the army, navy and civilian board of boxing control, through the chairman of its general committee, Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor. The general idea is said to be "heartily endorsed" by Governors of many states.

Favorable replies have been received, Mr. Borglum said, from the Governors of Massachusetts, New Jersey, Colorado, Florida, Illinois, Maryland and Wisconsin.

MEET TO DRAW UP LEAGUE SCHEDULE

Representatives of all the fraternities on the campus will meet in the gymnasium tonight at 7:15 to draw up the schedule for the interfraternity basketball league. Officers will be elected at the meeting, and plans for the interfraternity basketball season definitely settled. Dr. W. E. Meanwell, varsity basketball coach, will have charge of the meeting and the launching of the new league.

Ripon Five Noses Out Milton Quint for Win

RIPON, Wis.—In a game devoid of real basketball, Ripon college scored a victory in the first game of the season here on Tuesday night over Milton college, 28 to 20.

Bush at right forward, a new comer on the Ripon squad, displayed all sports of mid-season form and was easily the star of the contest. Bush scored twelve of the Ripon points, while Captain Schmieder playing a guard position scored ten. Oakley at center for Milton college also showed signs of excellency and scored twelve of his team's twenty points.

Condition of Gipp Improving Slowly

NOTRE DAME, Ind.—Prospects for the Christmas Day game with the Pacific fleet at San Francisco brightened today when George Gipp, upon whose condition this contest depends, was reported as improved.

Members of Alpha Gamma Rho will give an informal dance Friday, December 10, at the chapter house, 1530 University avenue. Mr. and Mrs. A. L. McMahon and Captain and Mrs. John Kellher will chaperon.

RULES OF GOLF NEED CHANGING SAYS WESTERN

Western Golf Association is Intent on Making War
to Finish With U. S. G. A.

CHICAGO—Announcement of the proposal of the Western Golf Association to reorganize as a national body with the name American Golf Association and the avowed purpose, as the supreme golf authority in America of making a new set of rules that will not retain the old claims and obscurities of the Scotch and English laws of the game, has brought forth comment on this phase of golf rules from Crafts W. Higgins, assistant secretary of the Western organization. Higgins is known and revered as the human rule book of golf, because he has actively managed more tournaments than any other man and has every rule at the end of his tongue.

"What does an American know about fog or bent or rather?" asked Higgins in discussing the rules. Even the word bent in all the rule books is spelled "beyond" in the English fashion. "While ignorance is taken of the vegetable growths mentioned, and the top tracks, which are never met with on an American course, are taken as nothing is said about proper crab crawl and other impediments with which an American golfer has to contend."

"In the recent western open championship at Olympia Fields, Clarence Hackney of Atlantic City, was a change to the winning score, found his excellent 250 yard drive on the last hole all, but out of sight in a crab hole in the middle of the fairway. He had to play it where it lay or drop back with a penalty of two strokes. The two stroke penalty would have been fatal, but he had a chance by playing out, if his endeavor proved successful. He took a shovelful of earth and got the ball out a few feet from the hole by playing back toward the tee. Then he placed a 175 yard iron approach within 15 feet of the cup and holed it for a par four. Jack Hutchinson came along later with the winning score, but if a rule had not penalized his perfect drive because it happened to land in an unforgotten crab hole, he might have been one stroke better off."

"Then there is largely an unnecessary difference between the rules for medal and match play, the penalties for violation being especially difficult. One of these was recently eliminated recently by the changing of the rule on lost balls, so that the sufferer in this case in match play did not necessarily lose the hole, but only the distance and a stroke as in medal. Likewise it was permitted a match player to lift his ball from an unplayable lie with a penalty of two strokes, as in medal, instead of giving up the hole, but there are other cases that need amendment."

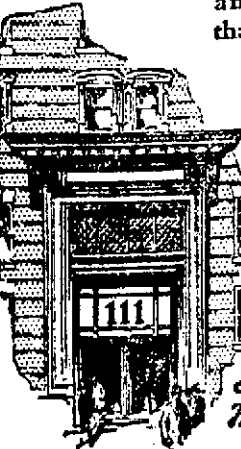

"It seems unbelievable, but the rules still apply to the old solid gutta percha ball, which was supplanted 15 years ago by the rubber-cored ball of elastic rubber. Rule 24 provided that if a ball split in pieces, an accident which sometimes happened to a gutty, a new ball may be placed where any piece lies. The fragments might all lie on clay stacks, but, regardless of that, such a catastrophe cannot overtake the modern ball."

If a woman's watch stops every time she looks at it she is foolish to waste money on cosmetics.

The Conscientious Objectors

They May Have Been Right, They May Have Been Wrong, But We Have Certainly Been Cruelly Wrong in the Severity With Which We Have Treated Them.

THIRTY-THREE more conscientious objectors have recently been discharged from our federal prisons. All have now been released. A number have died from beatings, torture, starvation and other atrocious cruelties. They have been tied up by the hands for days at a time. They have been nearly drowned in icy water and left remaining in their cells in freezing temperatures. Pneumonia, mercifully relieved many from their sufferings. The rapacity and vengeance with which they have been treated did not stop with their death. At one federal prison an iron cage of torture, copied from a model used in the dark ages was especially constructed. It will occupy a proud place some day in one of our historical museums devoted to the exhibit of patriotic relics.

The record of our government in its treatment of its conscientious objectors, and for which President Wilson and Secretary Baker are mainly responsible, constitutes one of the blackest pages in modern history. The only crime these men committed was to take too seriously the Christmas message of the christian religion, "Peace on earth, good will to men."

They were opposed to war, as we all are, but they were so simple as to believe that one of the best ways to oppose war was to refuse to take part in it, and fight.

Franklin could say: "There was never a good war or a bad peace." Bacon could say: "There is no possibility of a holy war." Channing could say: "War turns man to a beast of prey." Jefferson could say: "War is an instrument entirely inefficient toward redressing wrong." Madison could say "Of all the evils to public liberty war is the most to be dreaded, because it develops every other." Jesus could say: "Love your enemies." Sherman could say: "War is hell."

We may all APPLAUD these sentiments, but let a man in war time ACT as if he believed them and we turn upon him with fearful vengeance. Why is this? Dr. William Osler, in the last book he ever wrote, "The Old Humanities and the New Science" said it was due to "the exquisitely hellish state of mind into which war plunges even sensible men."

In other countries conscientious objectors have been put in prison, but their terms were short and only intended for restraint while the war was on. When it ended, they were released. But we have kept 33 of our conscientious objectors in prison for over two years after the war closed. And in Wisconsin we even went so far as to start a petty persecution of a man who had the courage to favor a resolution at a public meeting asking that amnesty be extended to such prisoners.

And Woodrow Wilson and Newton Baker are two of the last men in this country whom one would have picked out to make America more vengeful than any other country in treating conscientious objectors.

War develops heroic action, but no courage or martyrdom has exceeded that of conscientious objectors. It requires courage to fight, but it required greater courage still for these men to endure the hatred, ostracism, and torture to which they were subjected. They fought a good fight for the truth as they saw it. They kept faith with their own convictions.

They may have been right, they may have been wrong, but we have certainly been cruelly wrong in the severity with which we have treated them. And the time MAY COME when we will honor the memory of these men.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

PRESIDENT WILSON tells it well. From the time he wrote his first message, down to this, his last one, he has never been wanting in ability to express in a forceful and graceful manner American aspirations and ideals.

It has been America's faith that right makes might that has kept this country free from entangling alliances with the old world and from covenants to maintain the unjust peace treaty which President Wilson helped to negotiate in Paris.

The election was generally regarded as a repudiation of Wilsonism, a main characteristic of which has been to look one way and strike another.

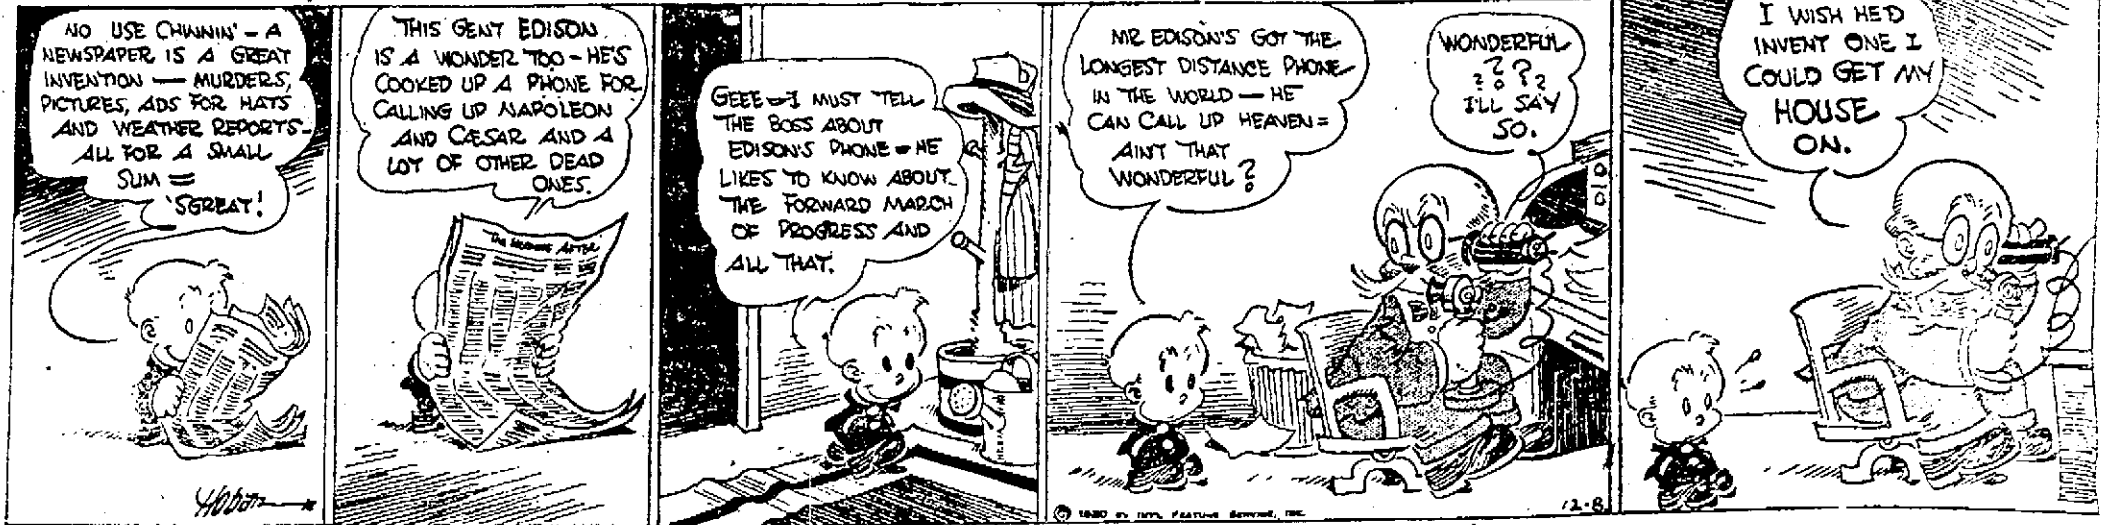

Yes, it IS the wish of every thoughtful American that in both domestic and world affairs we should have faith that right makes might. And this is the reason why we question the wisdom of spending eighty-eight per cent of taxes raised, for war and preparation for war. This is the reason the people have plainly shown their opposition to the president's policy of conscription and universal military training in time of peace.

Faith that right makes might has led to the repudiation of the president's suppression of free speech, and a free press at home and his advocacy of a peace of vengeance abroad.

The message is notable for what it does not notice. There are no references to the necessity of speeding up production to assist in the reconstruction of Europe. If the president believes it is wrong to close up factories in order to restore high prices, he does not say so. If he is concerned about the hundreds of thousands of idle American workmen who cannot find employment, although a large portion of the world is starving, he does not say so, nor suggest any remedy for disemployment.

The president says there are conditions which leave the banks freer to finance the needs of agriculture than heretofore.

Those who love to hear sentimental ballads sung by sweet-throated song birds, skillful and graceful dancing, talented musicians and famous blackface comedians, should not overlook the fact that Gus Hill's Minstrels is the attraction announced at the Fuller tonight. This mammoth organization of burnt cork stars comes direct from the Auditorium theater in Chicago, where they scored a most pronounced hit. Watch for the parade at high noon.

Local theatergoers are in for a genuine treat at the Fuller tomorrow evening when Fiske O'Hara appears in his fascinating play of melody, love and Irish wit "Springtime in Mayo," under the direction of Augustus Pitou Inc.

The same sheer dramatic force that made "Behind the Door" a motion picture always to be remembered lives anew in Hobart Bosworth's second Thomas H. Ince's vehicle "Below the Surface," which came to the Strand for four days commencing today.

but he does not explain how the banks can be induced to extend the needed aid to the farmers.

Complete independence for the Philippines is recommended. But nothing is said about the far more important problem, our failure in Haiti and Santo Domingo.

The president calls attention to the enormous sums of money which we are pouring into the treasuries of the railroads, $600,000,000 already paid and $650,000,000 more soon to be paid. But no repeal of the wicked law by which this goes on is suggested.

Nothing is said about bonus legislation for the soldiers, nothing about the repeal of any of the war-time laws, and (thank heaven) in view of the "solemn referendum" nothing about the league and peace treaty.

Voice Of The People

FROM MR. WHEELER

To the Editor of The Capital Times: "Come now, let us reason together."

I recall many Presidential campaigns, including that of "Tippecanoe and Tyler too!" I have distinct memories of mud slinging, and personal abuse indulged in by misguided partisans, during state, county, and even township campaigns, since Barstow Bashford, et al fought wordy duels in Wisconsin.

Now I appeal to you, and ask you to calmly consider how much was accomplished toward good government, and clean politics, by all the insinuations, or rank abuse, heaped upon the various candidates for office during 1920. "Abuse," of Lenroot, Nelson, Morgan, Blaine, Harding, and the other officers elect, made them more votes; merely from disgust felt by decent people when they read the daily slams at some one's character because he was "a candidate for office, and anything to beat him."

And what do you expect to accomplish now by harping about a "Slush Fund?"

The average citizen of intelligence says, "Doesn't that editor wish he could get his hands into a Slush Fund?"

When I read your warm advocacy of higher wages for coal miners, I supposed you knew that the consumer must pay the advance.

Apparently Mr. Lenroot considered that matter whether you did or not. The railroad added to freight and passenger tariffs, as the only means of meeting an enormous increase of expense.

You are constantly abusing them for robbing the people, and abusing Lenroot for a law enabling railroads to raise the necessary increase of expenses; and then have the gall to raise your subscription price for the Times, to $1.50 per quarter!

In the light of election returns does it not appear that much high priced print paper, and a whole lot of ink was wasted in traducing, and misrepresenting character, motives and records of public men?

To an old fellow who has seen the folly of it many times illustrated (when returns came in) a campaign of vilification is always a regrettable episode. Like the boomerang, it usually returns to injure the man who throws the mud.

In your other senses you believe election of a candidate. Under conditions, that the average American is patriotic and when elected to office he will try to do the best he knows how to do, according to his light. He cannot please everybody; he cannot always do what he wants to do. But is it not better to accept the verdict of the people gracefully, and try to help him in his thankless task of serving the people; rather than to keep on throwing mud, and vilifying him, and all voters who supported him?

Every corporation, every branch of what we term "Big Business," has just the same right to exist as has The Capital Times Co. Each wishes to succeed, to make money, to prosper.

We are all dependant upon Big Business; and upon Capital, for our existence, as a progressive nation. We are all parts of the Government. Is it not better for us to discuss the policies we are to pursue in a calm friendly way, rather than in a continual faultfinding spirit, with suspicion of motives, and ignorant criticism? None of us are wiser than Solomon; and even Solomon went to extremes at times: (say in the matter of cornering the women market).

Although I did not vote for all the winning candidates, I am sure they may be expected to perform their duties like true Americans. I doubt very much that whatever money was spent in this recent campaign, influenced voters to any extent worth mentioning.

Certainly newspaper support, (or attacks) did not seem to cut much ice. No "slush fund" was used in the purchase of voters I am sure (and so are you sure also).

That men of means supported those candidates who won, merely suggests that men of means are men of brains usually, and as citizens are voters quite as intelligent, and patriotic as I am, though I am as inept as any day laborer; and in no position to pay expense of a "primary" myself.

At its very inception our primary scheme requires expense for printing. (Some critics assert that job-work causes the newspaper support of the Primary.)

Just consider this a moment. If I want to run for any office I must start nomination papers. If somebody wants to use me then somebody pays the expense of papers, and the people pay for an extra election of a candidate. Under conditions, that the average American is patriotic and when elected to office he will try to do the best he knows how to do, according to his light. He cannot please everybody; he cannot always do what he wants to do. But is it not better to accept the verdict of the people gracefully, and try to help him in his thankless task of serving the people; rather than to keep on throwing mud, and vilifying him, and all voters who supported him?

Every corporation, every branch of what we term "Big Business," has just the same right to exist as has The Capital Times Co. Each wishes to succeed, to make money, to prosper.

We are all dependant upon Big Business; and upon Capital, for our existence, as a progressive nation. We are all parts of the Government. Is it not better for us to discuss the policies we are to pursue in a calm friendly way, rather than in a continual faultfinding spirit, with suspicion of motives, and ignorant criticism? None of us are wiser than Solomon; and even Solomon went to extremes at times: (say in the matter of cornering the women market).

TOO MANY BREAKDOWNS.

The breakdown of the shipping board.

Has surely smirched our country's name. Now dry enforcement's breaking down. The chief got blue and quit the game.

We used to dance a breakdown dance. When hearts were light and men could clown. But in these shimmie days—no chance. The breakdown dance has broken down.

The reason why we've broken down in so many of our governmental activities is because we have cut away from the stern teachings of our fathers and have begun to believe that we could get something for nothing.—World democracy, government operation and similar theories.

One time on Half Moon Mountain, Carl Lashor and his young wife were riding home in the dilapidated old buggy that Carl had inherited from his grandfather. As they rattled over the rough road, they overtook an old miser that the boys called "Sompin-for-Nothing" because he never spent any money, but always wanted people to give him a share of their gleanings. Carl stopped and asked the old man to get on and ride.

"Your buggy don't look very strong," said the old man, "are you sure it'll carry me?"

"Never broken down yet," laughed Carl, "and it's been traveling these roads for nigh onto a hundred years. Climb on."

The old man stepped into the bed of the buggy and when Carl started the horse, the buggy collapsed. The old man stepped out again, looked at Carl and his wife sitting in the road and continued on his journey. Carl's spine was paralyzed for a few minutes and so was his wife's and they sat there till the old man was out of sight.

And that's the shape this country is in. When we took aboard our man Something-for-Nothing, it was a lead no nation could carry. At the good old wagon come broke down.

Speaking of breakdowns, "The Broken Wing" is a new play in which the hero in his crippled plane breaks through the roof and falls in the heroine's lap.

'Tis nutty questions of this ilk, That I am prone to utter: "Why is it cocoanuts give milk, Since peanuts give us butter?"

Lord Leverhulme used the movie to induce the African savages to go to work. They lived in cocoanut groves and had no use for money. The cocoanuts were food, clothing and shelter for them. The cruel Leverhulme opened a movie show. Tickets don't grow on trees, it costs money to see "Mary and Doug" and so the black men got busy. By using his "cocoanut" movie, Leverhulme became the richest
